

New Computer Purchases

There are hundreds of options available when shopping for a new desktop or laptop computer system. In fact there are thousands of component combinations that exist from many computer manufacturer's. We all have different computer needs, don't get stuck with something that cannot accomplish everything you want and deserve. I am here to help guide you through and recommend what you really need.

I have repaired desktop and laptop computers from Sony, Dell, Toshiba, Compaq, HP, Gateway, Acer, Fujitsu, Asus and Lenovo(IBM). I have seen all the good and bad over the years and use this knowledge to make my recommendations. Sales people will tell you what you want to hear they don't have to support you when something goes wrong down the line. I am your third party objective resource and want only the best for myself and clients within their budget constraints.

I will ask you some basic questions regarding what you want to use the computer for and what future hardware accessories you may purchase. With this information I will then do some research and contact you with the results to think over. There is no high pressure sales I am here to offer knowledge and confidence in your future purchase. Many clients who didn't consult JDCTeK spend hundreds more than they needed to or did not have the capabilities they needed in a PC.

I do not charge for the phone consultation or creation of computer quotes.
